SEATTLE -- The Seattle Pacific Falcons are back -- back in the NCAA West Regional women's basketball final, that is.

Kelsey Hill scored 16 points on Saturday night, and Megan Hoisington notched her first double-double of the season as the Falcons qualified for their second straight Division II West title game, beating Humboldt State in a semifinal at Brougham Pavilion, 74-56.

The Falcons (23-4) won their 11th straight game. They will meet Great Northwest Athletic Conference rival Alaska Anchorage (29-3) on Monday at 7 p.m. in Brougham Pavilion for the regional championship and a trip to San Antonio, Texas, for the Elite Eight. The Seawolves fended off UC San Diego in Saturday's first semifinal, 52-49.

"We're back where we wanted to be. When we started practice, our goal was to get to the Elite Eight," Falcons coach Julie Van Beek said.

Added Hoisington, who accounted for 14 points and 11 rebounds, "Every season, a team will peak, and this is the right time to peak. Our freshmen have confidence, and we're playing well as a team."

SPU and Anchorage will meet for the third time this season, and also will face each other in the West final for the second straight year. The Seawolves won last year's West title game in Brougham, 50-44.

Each team won on its homecourt during the just-completed GNAC schedule -- Anchorage 53-49 in Alaska on Jan. 24; the Falcons 54-42 in Seattle on Feb. 19. SPU and Alaska Anchorage ultimately tied for the conference regular-season title with identical 14-2 records.

"You want to go against the best to get to the best," van Beek said after Saturday's victory against Humboldt State. "We're playing a team that we know is good. We have to rebound. When we lost up there, they out-rebounded us by 13 in the second half. When they came down here, we out-rebounded them. And we have to play a good, balanced game on offense."

TICKET TALK

Tickets for the West Regionals will be available at the Brougham Pavilion box office (3414 3rd Ave. W., Seattle), beginning one hour before start of the first game. Tickets are priced at $12 for reserved seats, $8 for general admission and $5 for students.

SCOUTING THE SEMIFINALS

Seattle Pacific (23-4, 14-2 GNAC) vs. Alaska Anchorage (29-3, 14-2 GNAC)

Tournament seeds: Seattle Pacific No. 1, Alaska Anchorage No. 2.

All-time series: Seattle Pacific leads, 34-13. Current series streak: Seattle Pacific won 1.

Last time: At Seattle Pacific 54, Alaska Anchorage 42 (2/19/09).

USA Today/ESPN national rankings (as of March 10 poll): Alaska Anchorage No. 2, SPU No. 5.

Regional rankings (as of March 4 final list): SPU No. 1, Alaska Anchorage No. 2.

Falcons in a nutshell: When four starters graduate, a team effort becomes even more paramount to staying on top of the pile. SPU has gotten that kind of an effort this winter.

Kelsey Hill, who was the only returning starter from last season, made the All-GNAC first team with her 10.4 scoring and her 7.0 rebounding average. Junior Daesha Henderson, who took over the starting point guard role from All-American Beth Christensen, also made the first team. She is among the GNAC's top 10 in five different categories.

Senior forward Kelsey Burns, SPU's leading scorer at 12.4 points per game earned a spot on the second team, and sophomore guard Maddie Maloney was honorable mention.

Jordan Harazin, who very capably moved into the starting point guard spot when injuries forced coach Julie van Beek to shuffle her lineup, and otherwise provides a spark off the bench, was named Freshman of the Year.

The Falcons not only shoot the ball well, they pass it well. Seattle Pacific ranked first in field goal shooting (.442) and first in assists in the GNAC at 18.4 per game. That assist total is No. 6 among the 275 Division II schools. And their defense, allowing just 57.5 points per game ranks No. 2 in the conference and No. 21 in D-2.

They have continued both trends in the tournament, leading the eight-team field at 22.5 assists per game and allowing just 52 points per contest, right behind UAA's 51.5.

Seawolves in a nutshell: Alaska Anchorage started the season as a team to beat, and has continued to live up to that billing. Since a two-game skid in mid-February (losses at SPU and Northwest Nazarene), the Seawolves have won their last five to return to the West finals.

Senior center Rebecca Kielinski pulled off a three-peat as the GNAC Player of the Year, and also was a repeater on the Daktronics West Region first team. She is the second-leading rebounder in the regionals at 7.0 per game and the top shot-blocker at 4.0. Guard Jackie Thiel is deadly from downtown, hitting 3-pointers at a 54.2 percent clip. That helped her earn a share of the GNAC Newcomer of the Year award.

Anchorage is the best defensive team in all of Division II, allowing just 48.0 points per game for the entire season (52.0 in its two NCAA contests). Team averages just a 31.4 shooting against the Seawolves.

The championship game will be played on Friday, March 27, at 5 p.m. PDT. The title tilt will be shown live on ESPN2.

This is the first time the Elite Eight has visited San Antonio. Bill Greehey Arena is a 3,800-seat facility and is the first Division II arena in the country with video boards.

SPU IN THE ELITE EIGHT

If the Falcons qualify, it will be their fourth trip to the Elite Eight.

Seattle Pacific went for the first time in 1998, falling to Northern Michigan in the first round at Pine Bluff, Ark., 86-57. It was six years before the Falcons made it back, but the trip ended again in the first round, as Drury won, 94-83, in St. Joseph, Mo.

Then came the magical 2005 season when SPU went all the way to the championship game in Hot Springs, Ark. The Falcons opened with a 67-55 victory against Grand Valley State, then downed Merrimack, 73-64, before falling to Washburn in the championship game, 70-53.

SHINING STARS

The Falcons will take the regional court with two All-GNAC first-team selections in senior center Kelsey Hill and junior guard Daesha Henderson. They also have newly crowned GNAC Freshman of the Year in freshman point guard Jordan Harazin and reigning conference Player of the Week Kelsey Burns.

Burns also was named to the All-GNAC second team, and sophomore guard Maddie Maloney was an honorable mention choice.

ON THE HONOR ROLL

• Megan Hoisington was named the MVP for the first half of the GNAC-CCAA tournament that was played Nov. 21-22 at Western Washington University in Bellingham and was named GNAC Player of the Week for that performance. Hoisington had 29 points combined in victories against UC San Diego and Cal Poly Pomona. Daesha Henderson also was that all-tournament team.

• Kelsey Burns was named the Most Valuable Player of the GNAC-CCAA Challenge, which was played Dec. 12-13 in Chico, Calif. She accounted for 23 points, seven rebounds, three assists and three steals combined in victories against Sonoma State and Chico State. That performance also earned GNAC Player of the Week honors for Burns.

• Henderson and Maddie Maloney joined Burns on the GNAC-CCAA all-tournament team at Chico.

• Henderson was honored as the GNAC co-Player of the Week for Feb. 2-7. She had 41 total points, including a career-high 26 at Central Washington on Feb. 5, hitting 16 of 24 from the floor and coming up with nine steals.

• Kelsey Hill was named the GNAC co-Player of the Week for Feb. 16-21 after back-to-back double-doubles totaling 37 points and 23 rebounds in a home sweep of Alaska Anchorage and Alaska Fairbanks. She also had seven assists and three blocks.

FALCON FODDER

• Daesha Henderson has been among the leaders in five different categories throughout the season, and that's how she finished in the final GNAC statistics. Henderson was second in field goal shooting (.512), second in steals (3.16 per game), third in assist/turnover ratio (1.66), fourth in assists per game (4.12) and fourth in minutes per game (31.60). Henderson ranks 24th in Division II in steals.

• Kelsey Burns wound up ninth on the final GNAC scoring list at 12.4 points per game. She also ranked 10th in 3-point shooting at .406 and fifth in 3-pointers made at 1.86 per game.

• Maddie Maloney, in spite of missing the last three regular-season games with an illness, still wound up tied for sixth in steals (1.91), was 10th in assists (2.77) and 11th in assist/turnover ratio (1.30).

• Senior Kelsey Hill finished as the third-best field goal shooter in the conference at .507, and was 10th in rebounding at 7.0 per game.

• The Falcons led the GNAC in shooting (.442), assists (18.4) and assist/turnover ratio (10.1). They were second in defense (57.5 points allowed per game), third in steals (11.04), third in fewest turnovers (18.2), and fifth in scoring (68.2).

• SPU's assist average is No. 6 in D-2. The Falcons are No. 21 (among 275 teams) in defense.
